Frankenmuth High School — Frankenmuth, Michigan

Foreword

The staff of the 1963 Eyrie takes great pleasure in presenting this book of memories, the sixth volume to be printed by the school.

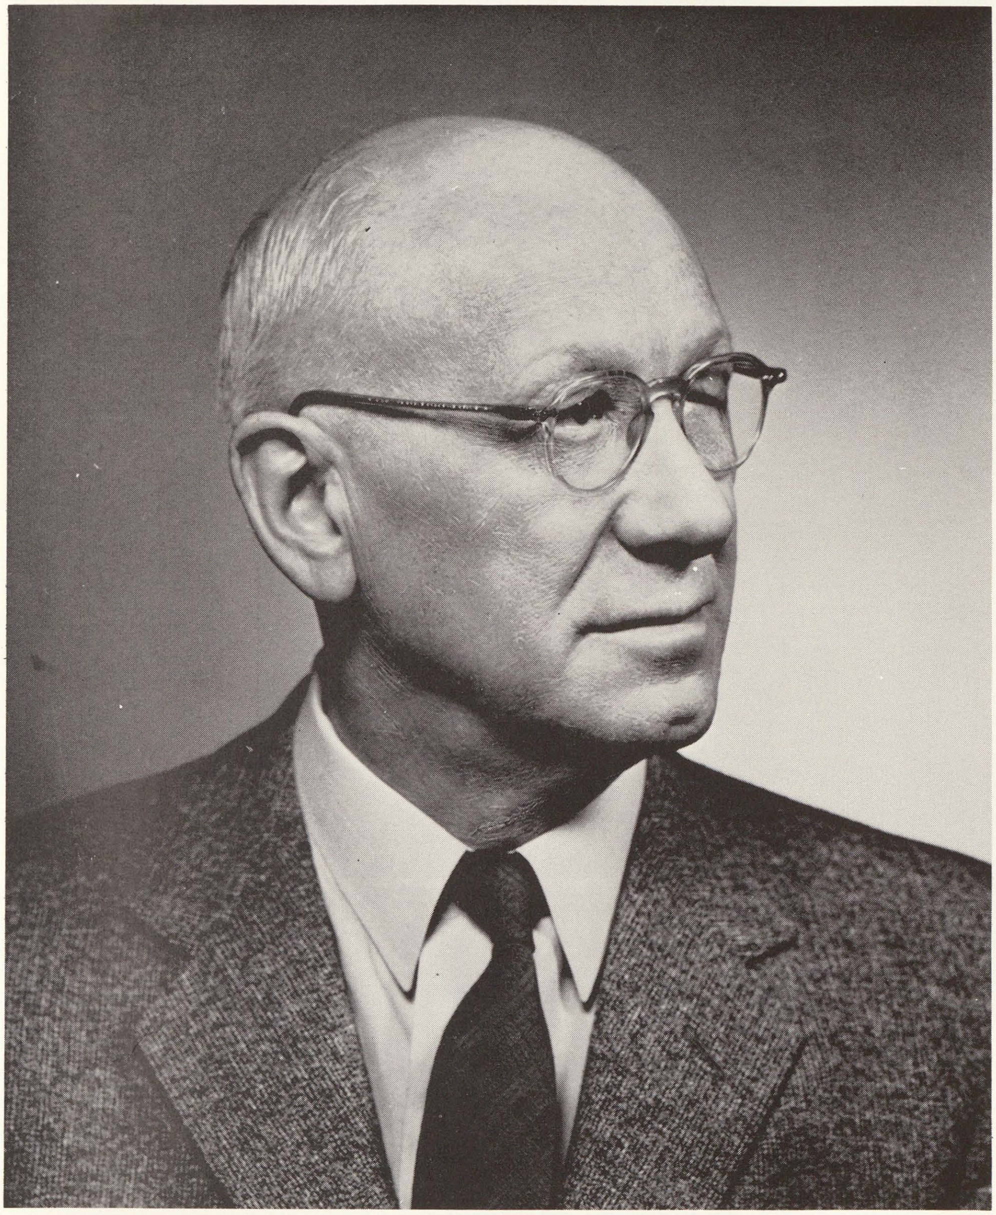

As illustrated throughout the book, each segment of the school program, the groups supporting the school, and those composing the student body plays a vital role in making our high school what it is.

We wish to take this opportunity to acknowledge and thank our advertisers for their generous support, our parents for their understanding and co-operation, and our advisor, Mrs. Margret Willis, for the counsel and advice she has given for this student project.

The staff hopes to leave with the faculty, students, and those concerned pleasant memories of the 1962-63 school year.

Sincerely,
The Eyrie Staff Members
Anne Brechtelsbauer and
Pauline Rodammer, Co-Editors

We Dedicate . . .

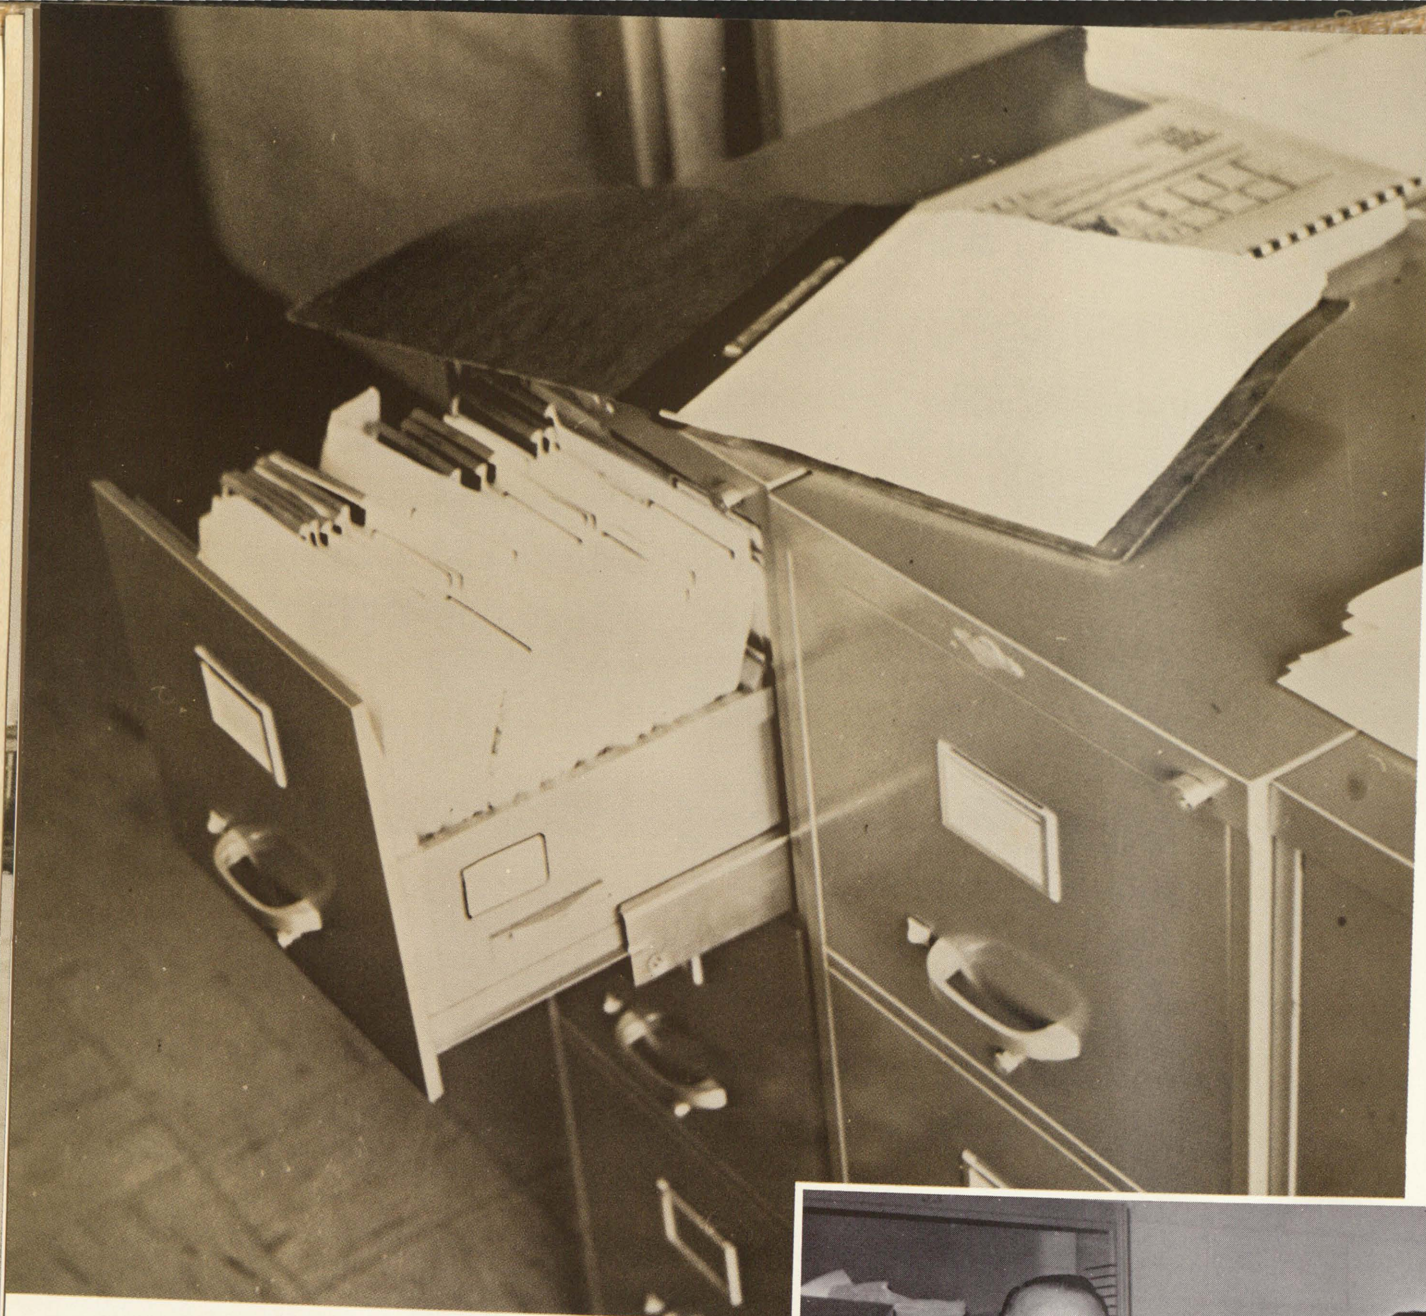

To an outstanding citizen of Frankenmuth, Lorenz List, who, after forty years of valuable service, is retiring from the board of education, we dedicate the 1963 Eyrie.

Mr. List was born in Frankenmuth on November 12, 1894. Upon completion of his elementary education, he attended International Business College in Saginaw for six months.

Before his service at the Frankenmuth State Bank, he worked as assistant postmaster in Frankenmuth. Mr. List has served at the bank for a total of 47 years and advanced to the position of president in June of 1958.

Active in church and community organizations, Mr. List served on the St. Lorenz parochial school board for 25 years, is a charter member of the local Rotary Club, and is a member of the Chamber of Commerce.

ADMINISTRATION

. . . the backbone of our high school . . .

Through the co-operation of the board of education, the superintendent of schools, the principal, counselors, and faculty, each student in the Frankenmuth school district is offered a well-rounded education and is encouraged to develop his social, physical, and mental abilities to the fullest.

THE BOARD OF EDUCATION

Members of the board of education are, standing: T. W. Johnston, Julius Yoba, Ray Bauer, Wyman Hegenauer. Seated: Lorenz List, treasurer; E. F. Rittmueller, secretary; and Walter Frahm, president.

Superintendent of Schools

Assuming the responsibilities of superintendent of the Frankenmuth School District for his third year is Richard Ziehmer. Following his graduation from Pontiac High School, he served in the army. Mr. Ziehmer graduated from Eastern Michigan University with a Bachelor of Science degree and obtained his Master's degree from the University of Michigan.

Before his position as superintendent in 1960 he served at FHS for one year as an English teacher and debate and forensics coach; in 1959 he was appointed high school principal.

Principal

Preceding his service as principal of Frankenmuth High School in 1953, Robert Wallen taught mathematics and shop at FHS. Mr. Wallen graduated from Central Michigan University and, resigning his duties as principal of Frankenmuth High in 1958, he continued graduate study at the University of Michigan from which institution he had completed his Master's degree in 1953.

Since 1960, when he returned to Frankenmuth, he has served as the high school's principal.

Guidance and Counselling

Assisting students in the department of guidance and counselling at Frankenmuth are Mrs. Helena Kaczynski and Homer Stinchcombe. Mrs. Kaczynski works on a part-time basis while Mr. Stinchcombe serves as head of the guidance and testing program.

Both have Master's degrees from the University of Michigan and are graduates of Central Michigan University.

Mrs. Kaczynski advises a student as to what courses would be most beneficial for her vocational choice.

Secretaries

Mrs. Charlotte Worley, the efficient secretary for Mr. Wallen's office, is always willing to help students find teachers, rooms, and school information.

Right: Mrs. Lawrence Lee, far right, is the secretary of Richard Ziehmer, school superintendent. She is assisted afternoons by senior Donna Rodammer, who works through the school co-op program.

Custodians

Credit for the maintenance and cleanliness of the school and school grounds goes to the custodians. Standing: Mrs. Alois Schmitzer, Mrs. Fred Suppes, Kurt Schmitzer, Mel Trinklein, William Gallagher, Alois Schmitzer. Kneeling are Gerald Palmreuter, and Walter Rogner.

Transportation

The friendly bus drivers of Frankenmuth include, standing: Mrs. Martin Eischer, Mrs. Ben Trinklein, Jr., Mrs. John Katona, Mrs. Fiore Janni, Fiore Janni. Kneeling: Fred Reida, Ed Bickel, Art Hildner, Fred Purshe, Kurt Schmitzer. Not pictured are Bill Katona and Mrs. Sylvia Bickel.

Hot Lunch

The cooks in charge of planning and preparing the menu for FHS students and personnel are, left to right: Mrs. Christine Rummel, Mrs. Carl Maurer, Mrs. Arnold Weber, Mrs. Paul Willard.

Tom Johnston and Irene Block combine their efforts of dissecting a frog in biology class.

. . . where our students acquire knowledge . . .

Through textbooks and assistance from capable instructors, our students continue their growth toward becoming America's future citizens.

Tom Worley and June Block attempt to demonstrate one of the principles they learned in physics class.

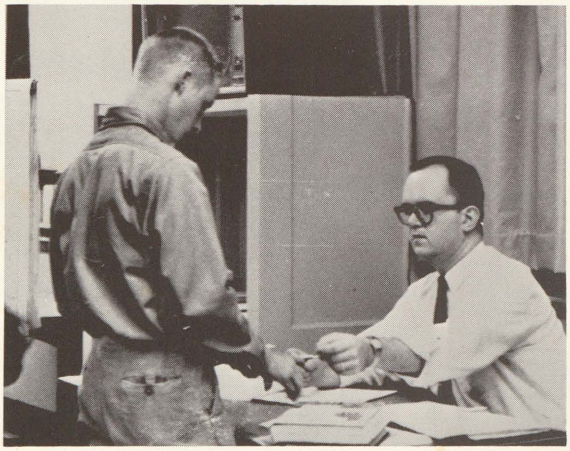

Joe Chowaniec and Ken Baker teach Marajean Palmrueter how to keep her purse in order during advanced math.

English

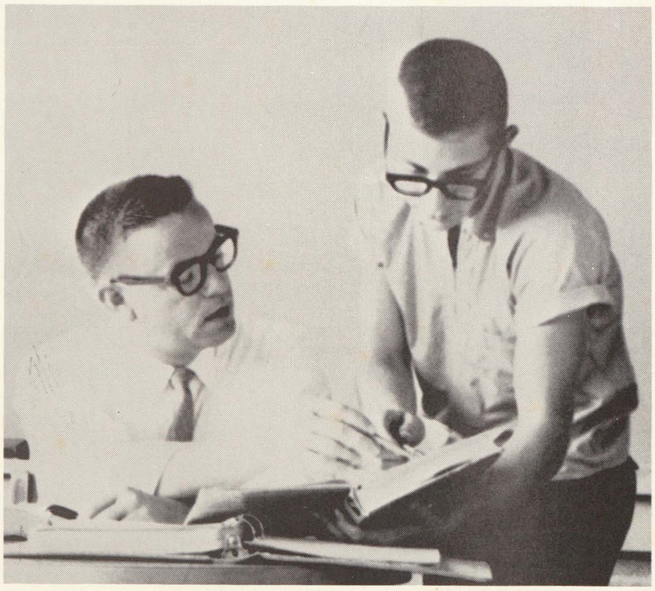

Grammar, a history of authors and literature, and writing techniques are only a few of the things students learn in English class. In order to graduate, a student at Frankenmuth High School is required to take four years of English.

Leonard Houck receives assistance from Mr. McCartney in a freshman English class.

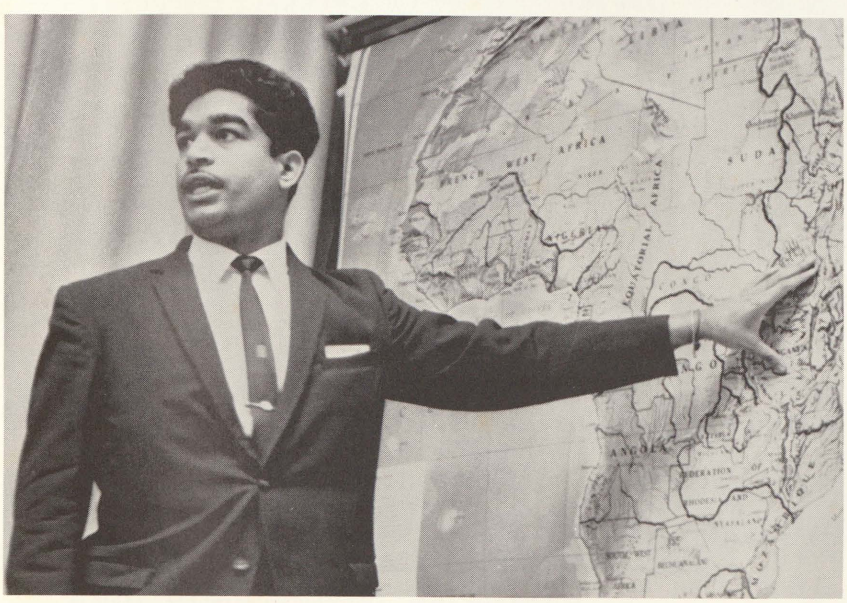

Mr. Nolan explains an English assignment to Dalton Kaul.

Social Studies

Social studies teachers include, standing, left to right: Fred Baker, a student teacher assisting in government and history classes; Patrick McCartney and Charles Bartel, Jr. teaching history. Seated: August Kehrberg and Alfred Zink, instructors of history, government and economics.

Pictured left is Romeo Julius Barros pointing out his native country, Tanganyika, East Africa. Mr. Barros, visiting through a Rotary Club program, is one of the several interesting personalities that were guests of the history and government classes throughout the school year.

Science and Math

In biology class, Dorothy Palmreuter, Marcia Vanek, and Ron Loesel locate the internal organs of the human body.

Foreign Languages

German, the only foreign language offered, is taught by James Weber, right. Mr. Weber teaches both first and second year German.

Tom Hildner and Ken Baker are busily plotting--er--studying, as Mr. Weber prays for a good day.

Home Economics

Mrs. Ruth Ann Van Erp, top left, gives sewing instructions to some of her students. Mrs. Van Erp taught home economics from the fall of 1961 until the second semester of the 1962-63 school year.

Commercial Studies

Instructors of the commercial courses are, standing: Charles Bartel, Jr. and Louis Weiss. Seated: Marco Marcet.

Speech

In addition to learning how to compose and deliver formal speeches, speech students also learn salesmanship, dramatics, debate and helpful information in several other areas.

Training students in the art of speaking is one of the duties of Marvin Hauck.

Below: "There," says Diane Loesel as she demonstrates at an assembly, the wonders of a hair dryer.

Journalism

Under the capable direction of advisor Margret Y. Willis, the journalism class published a bi-weekly newspaper throughout the school year of 1962-63.

Left: The newspaper staff and their positions for the first semester of the school year are top row: Barbara Schluckebier, editor-in-chief; Judy Zehnder, news editor; Joe Chowaniec, sports editor; Sharon Reinbold, copy editor; Anne Brechtelsbauer, publication manager; Carol Starke, make-up editor; Marie Heine, librarian; Rhea Fischer, copy editor; Eileen Ruff, circulation manager. Seated: Roger Kroeger, advertising; Ray Rau, advertising; Tom Rummel, business manager; Dennis Recla, photographer.

Above is pictured the Eagle Echo staff for the second semester. A new staff was elected to enable students to acquire experience in varied areas of publishing a newspaper.

Our Photographer —

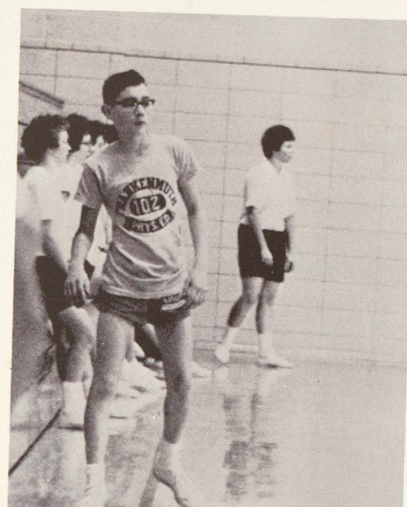

"Okay, now smile," urges Dennis Recla as he maintains one of his difficult positions to get a good shot. Dennis and photographers from Rummel Studio have supplied the Eyrie with the majority of its pictures. Dennis also does photography work for the Eagle Echo, Frankenmuth High School's newspaper.

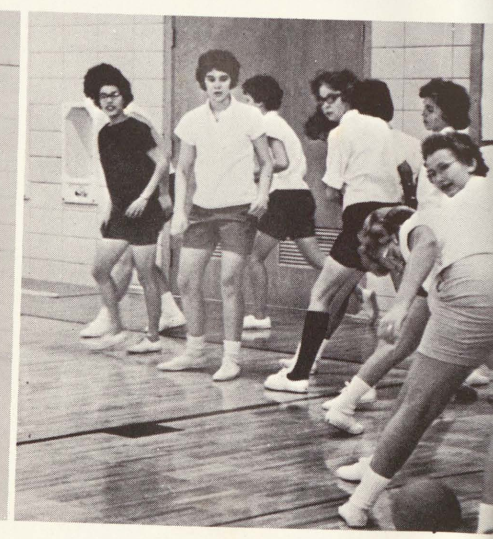

Physical Education

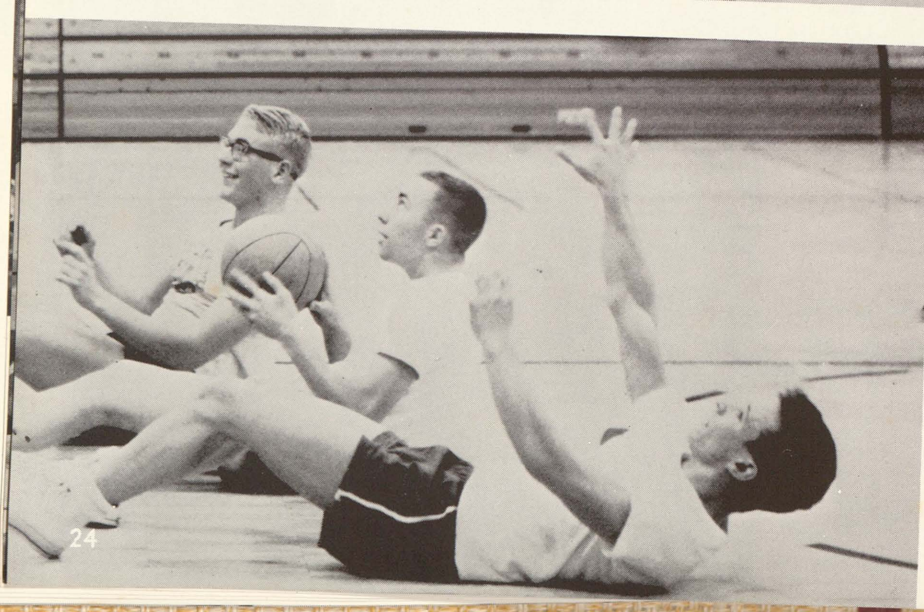

Under the direction of "Coach" and Mrs. Harold Kaczynski, the physical education department includes a wide variety of athletic activities.

Gary Conzelman acts as catcher for the boys' indoor whiffleball game. The girls in the background are playing bombard, a type of dodgeball. The games follow a period of calisthenics and physical fitness activities done each day.

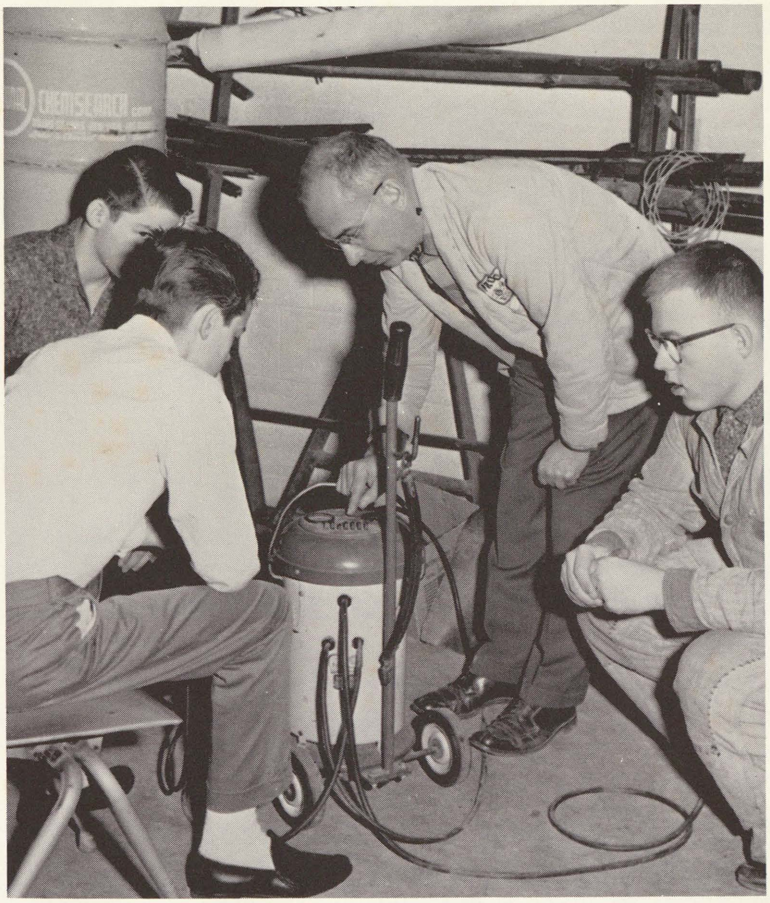

Relays, a part of the program designed to build up speed and coordination, are performed by competing teams, such as this one.

Industrial Arts

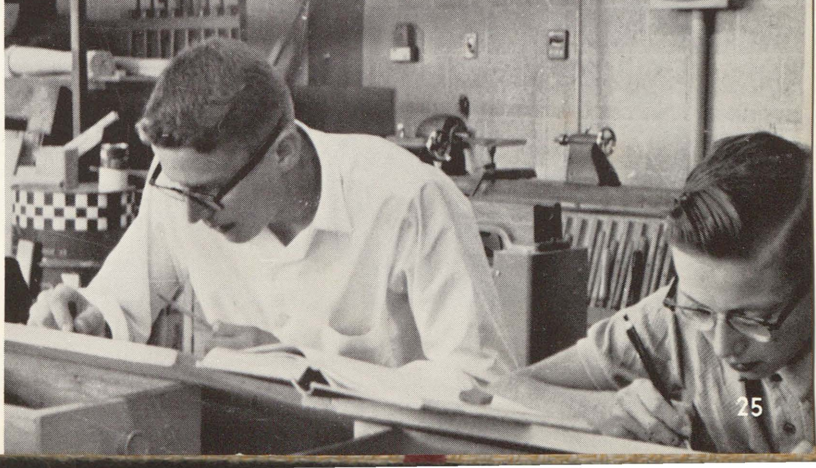

Warren Naber, instructor of FHS's shop, auto mechanics, and mechanical drawing classes, illustrates the techniques of operating a complex machine to a few of his students.

Constructing model homes is one of the interesting projects of shop students. Pictured at the left is Tom Worley as he carefully inserts a miniature 2 by 4.

Library

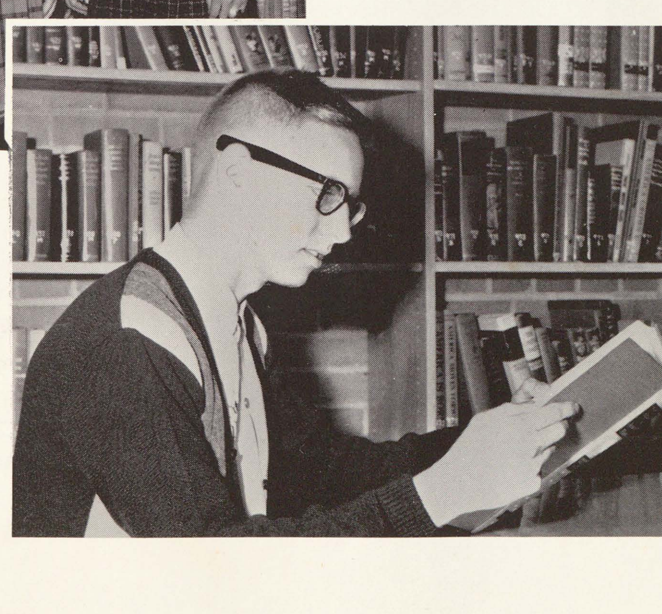

Mrs. Judith Meyer has held the position of librarian for two years at Frankenmuth. Through her constant efforts and planning, many new books have been added to the growing library.

Assisting Mrs. Meyer in keeping the books in order are, left to right, Judy Mueller, Karen Heinlein, Ruth Hubinger, Judy Aldrich, and Sheila Jordan.

Student Teachers

Miss Anne Blackford spent her term at Frankenmuth High School teaching speech and English classes, while Wayne Sedlow taught mathematics.

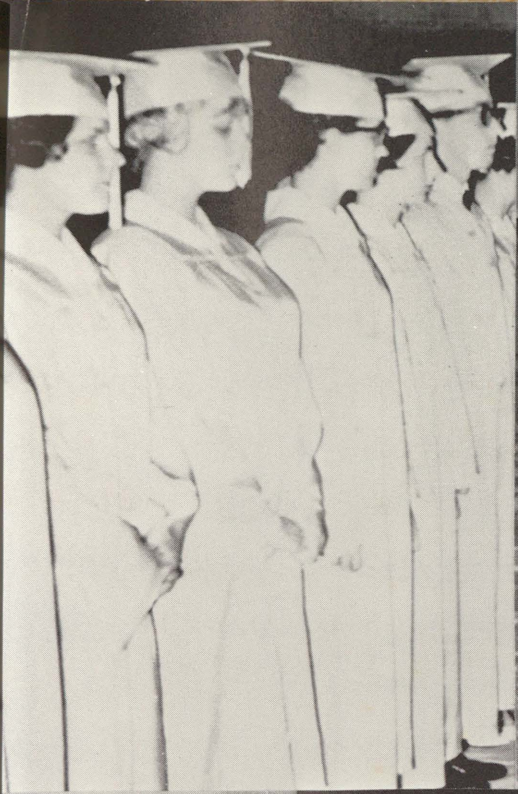

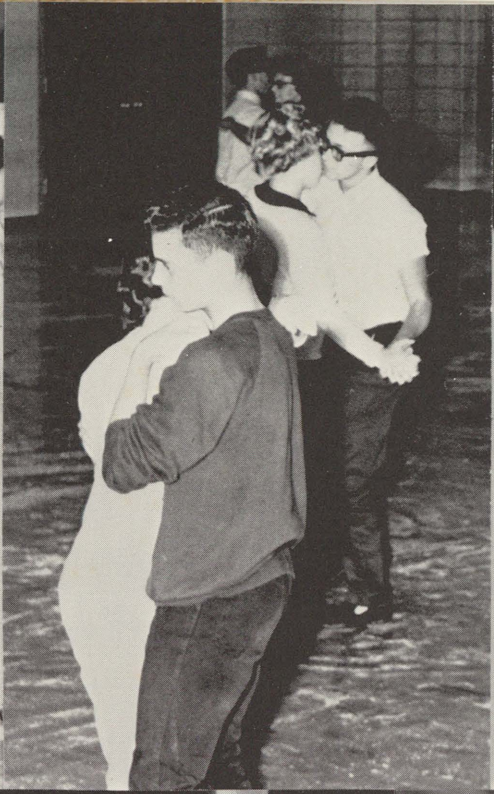

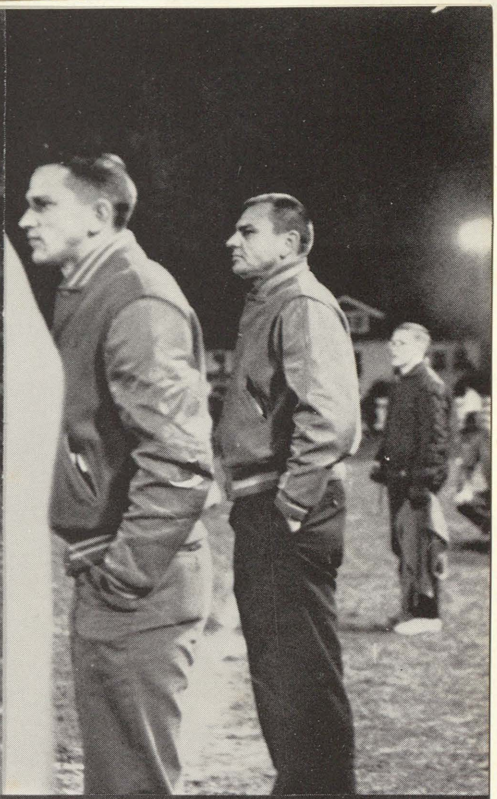

Teaching at FHS during the fifth term were Fred Baker, assisting with history courses, and Miss Sharon Foley, with speech and English.

These seniors use a few minutes before class making plans for the forthcoming weekend.

Seniors

. . . our school's representatives in America's future . . .

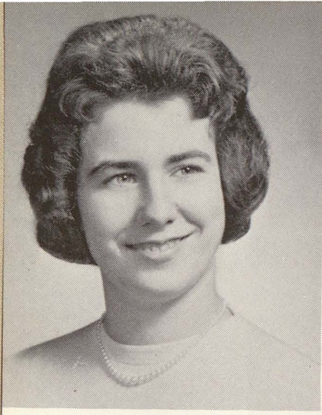

With anxiety and yet a feeling of hesitation, the graduates leave FHS and enter a world of greater challenge.

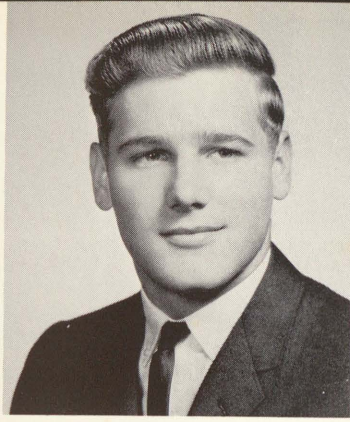

Lee Keinath utilizes his golf equipment to shoot a quick game of pool.

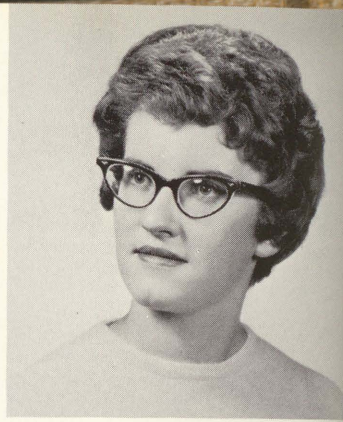

"Meet you at the drug store," says Dan List after a long day in warm classrooms.

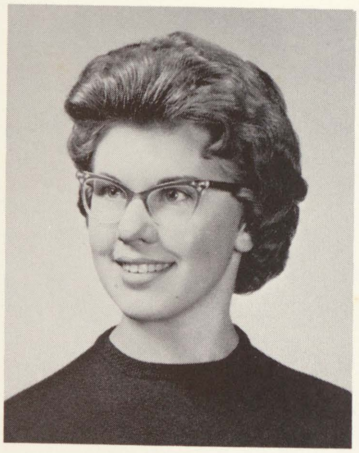

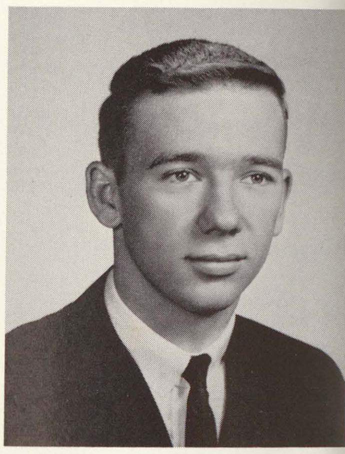

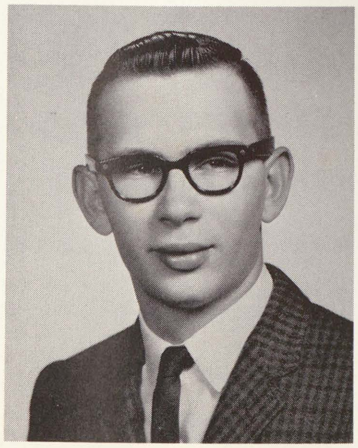

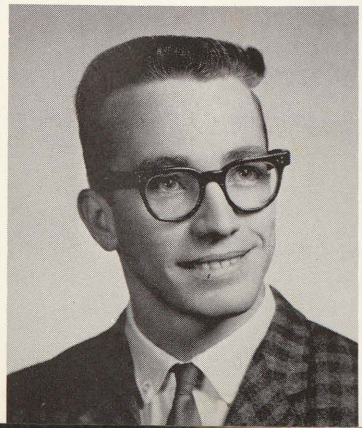

"Let us entertain you," sing the Senior Five Minus Two trio. Sara, Carol, and Rhea won first place in the school talent show.

Senior Class History

On June 6, 1963, the senior class ended their high school education. Though they may never again be together as a class, they take with them fond memories of four exciting years of joyful experiences, hard work, and companionship.

Under the leadership of their freshman class officers which included Richard A. Block, president; David Hart, vice-president; June Block, secretary; and Kathy Schnell, treasurer, the class of '63 began their first year of high school. Throughout their freshman year the class became well acquainted with the new routine of high school and sponsored a successful dance.

During their sophomore year, activities included a work day, a bake sale, and a dance. Class officers were Richard A. Block, president; Gary Rupprecht, vice-president; Marajean Palmrueter, secretary; and Barbara Schluckebier, treasurer.

The junior year proved to be the most active and exciting for the class of '63 as they worked especially hard to raise funds for the annual Junior-Senior Prom. Under the leadership of capable class officers, David Hart, president; Joe Chowaniec, vice-president; June Block, secretary; and Barbara Schluckebier, treasurer, all of their activities were successful. They sponsored a dance early in the fall of the year, followed by a spaghetti dinner, the Krazy Karnival, and the Junior-Senior Prom.

Beginning their final year of high school, the class elected Joe Chowaniec, president; Larry Veitengruber, vice-president; Marajean Palmrueter, secretary; and Barbara Schluckebier, treasurer. In order to finance graduation expenses and their class trip, the seniors sponsored the Sadie Hawkins Dance, and a bake sale.

In Memoriam

A loss to the class of '63 was the friendly, well-liked member, Karen Lee. She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Lee, 410 Edgewater Street in Frankenmuth. Karen passed away on December 21, 1962, as the result of leukemia.

Karen's courage and cheerful disposition will always be remembered by her classmates.

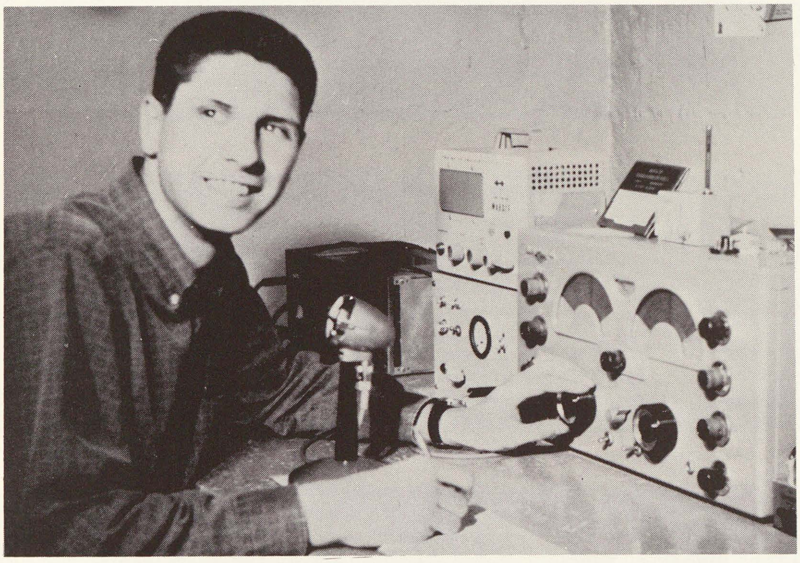

Krazy Karnival Queen Mary Block draws a lucky number as King Dennis Laux and Curtis Kohlberg look on.

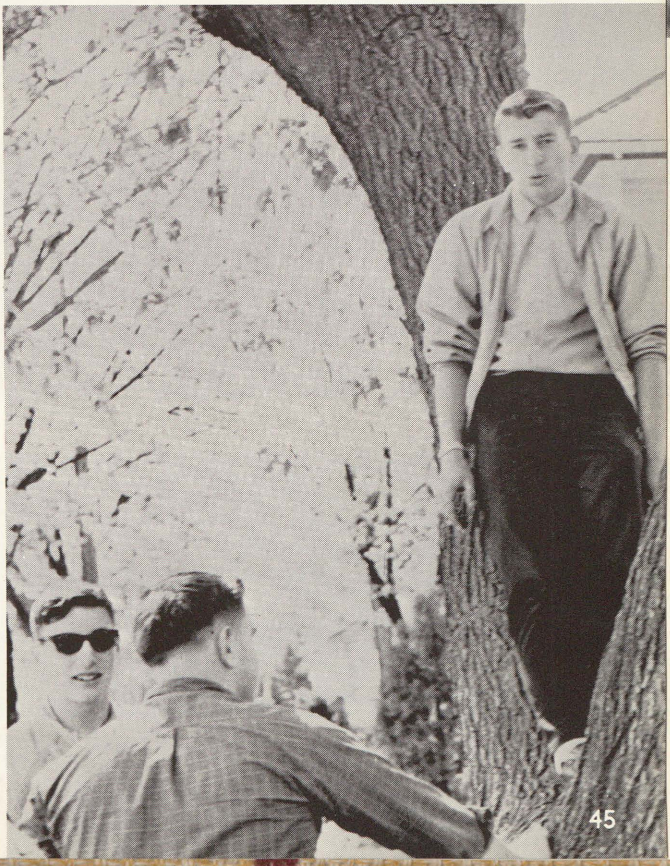

Juniors

. . . who will soon lead our school . . .

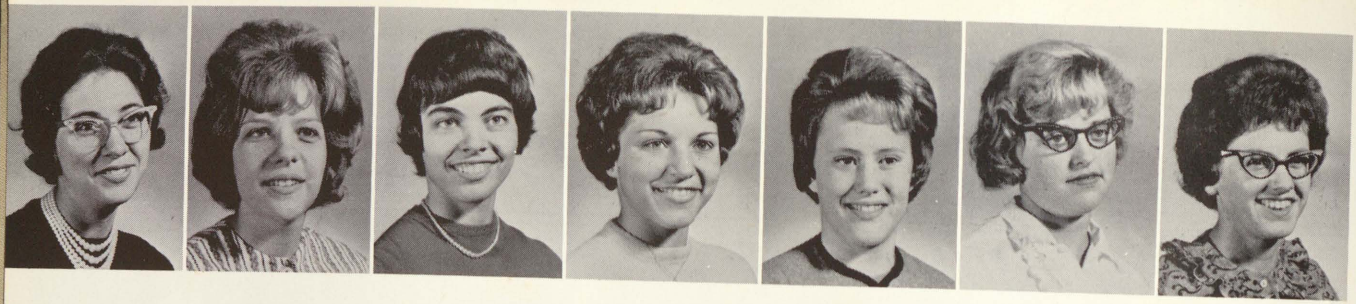

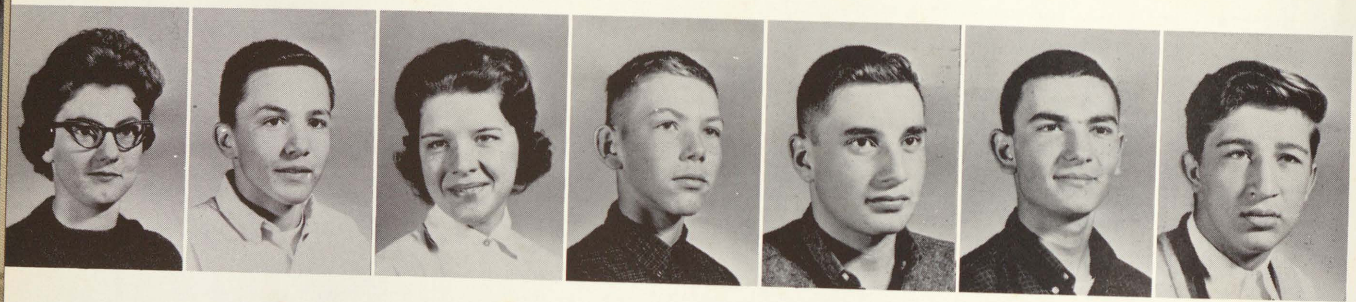

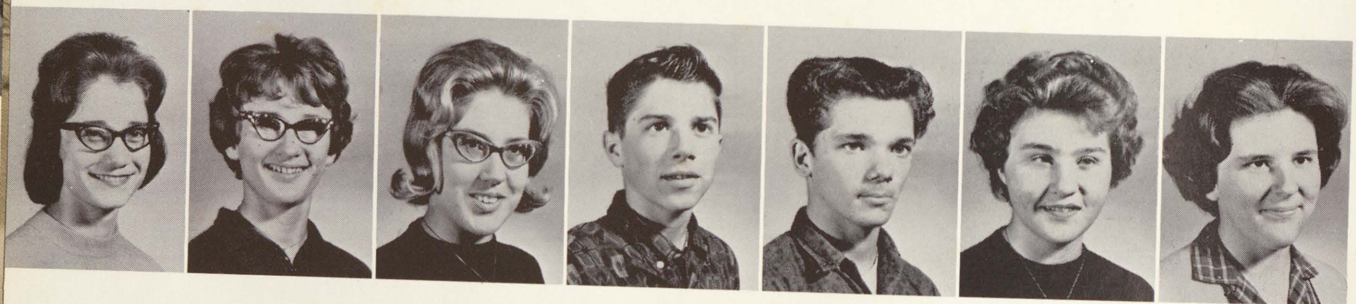

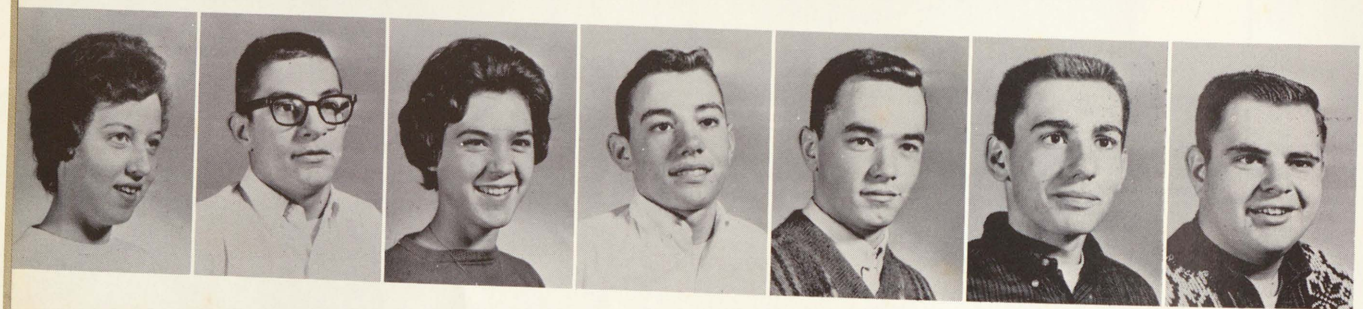

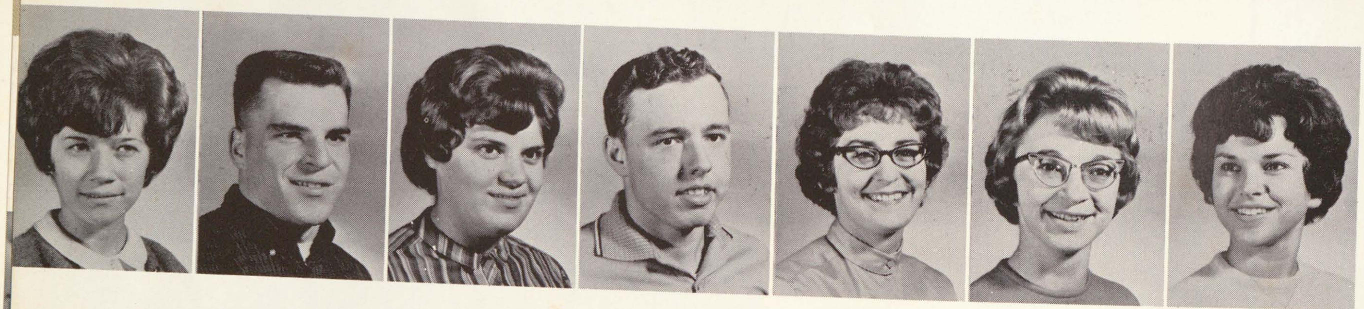

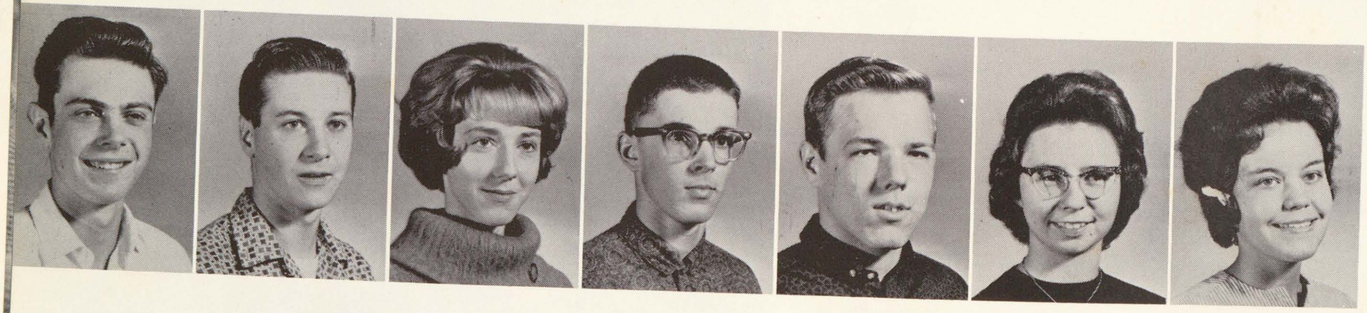

Through the many activities sponsored in a student's junior year, junior class members learn the value of being a hard-working, co-operative group.

Junior Class History

Frank Piesko was elected president of the junior class to head the many class activities this year. Ken Knoll served as vice-president, Joyce Brechtelsbauer, secretary, and Dianne Loesel, treasurer. The student council representatives were: Mary Block, Tom Hildner, Connie Weiss, Tom Worley, and Gary Zucker. The 88 members of the junior class worked hard to make their class activities a great success. These included three dances, a bake sale, Spaghetti Dinner and the Krazy Karnival. All were put on for the purpose of raising money for the Junior-Senior Dinner Dance which took place on May 25. With "An Evening in Paris" as the theme of the Prom, the Juniors did a beautiful job.

Underclassmen

. . . a vital part of our student body . . .

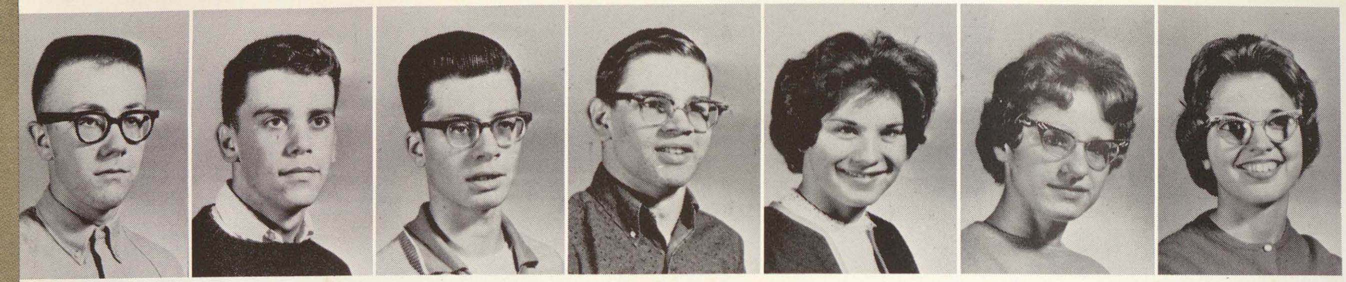

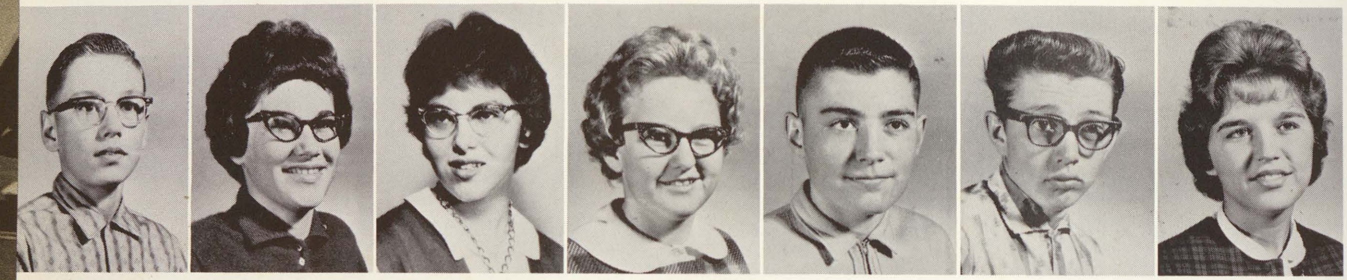

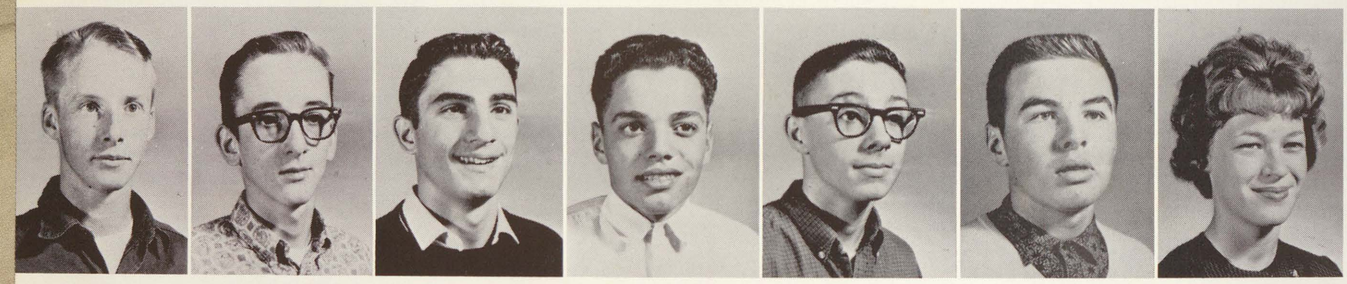

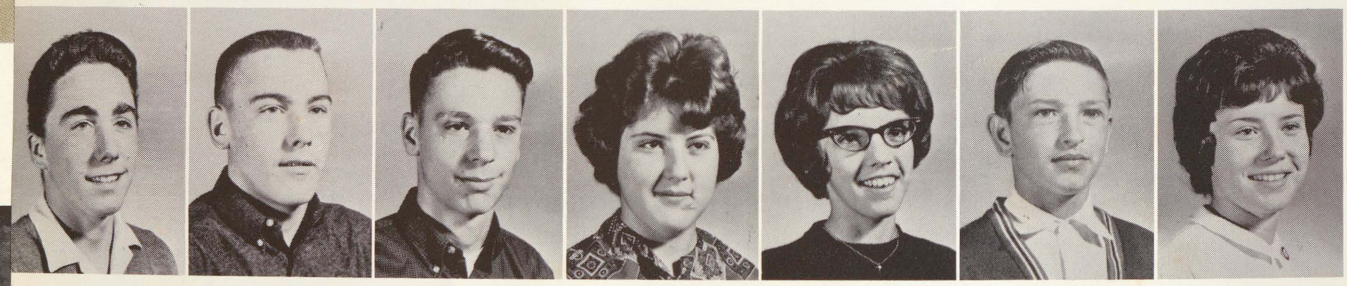

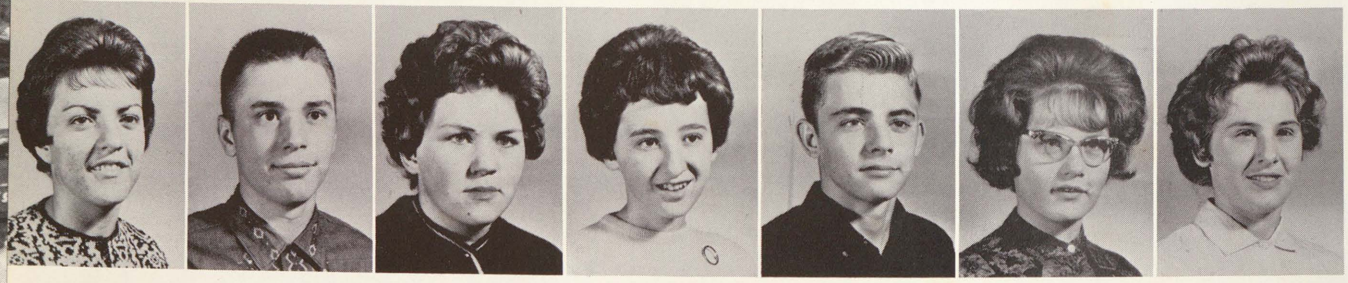

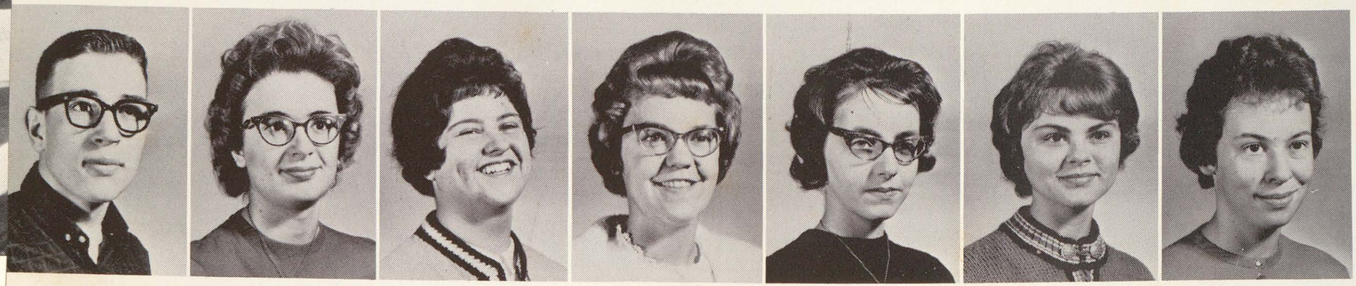

By wisely electing their leaders and representatives, underclassmen mold their future as students of Frankenmuth High School.

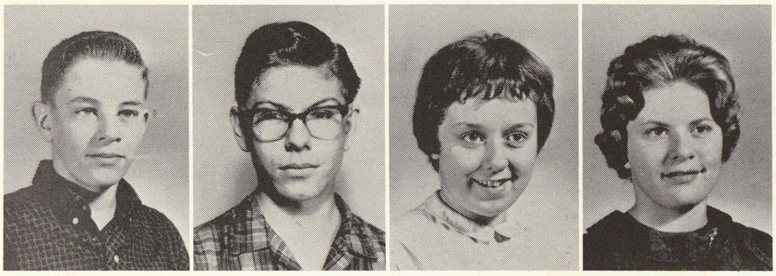

Boasting about Frankenmuth High's track stars, Joanie Miller says, "I told you we'd win that meet."

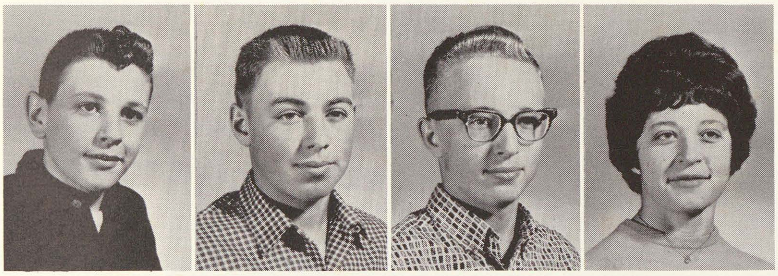

"What was trump?" asks Ron Loesel.

Sophomore Class History

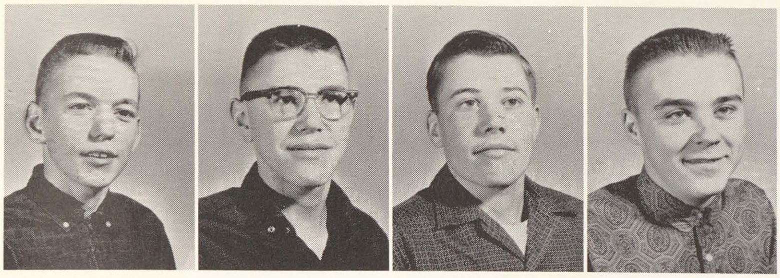

The sophomore class proved to be a hard-working, co-operative group as they sponsored two dances, the "Oldies But Goodies Dance" and a "Sock Hop." Both of these activities were successful.

Several days were spent by the sophomore class taking Flanagan Aptitude Classification Tests. The results of this test show both the interest and the ability of the individual student's various areas.

Freshman Class History

This year's freshman class, unlike most before them, sponsored several all-school activities. These included a dance and several candy sales during noon hours. All were great successes.

Freshman class officers are, left to right: Susan Nuechterlein, treasurer; Janice Hartman, secretary; Ray Borchard, vice-president; Randy Hart, president.

"Oh, does that finish line look good," pants Ken Baker.

Athletics

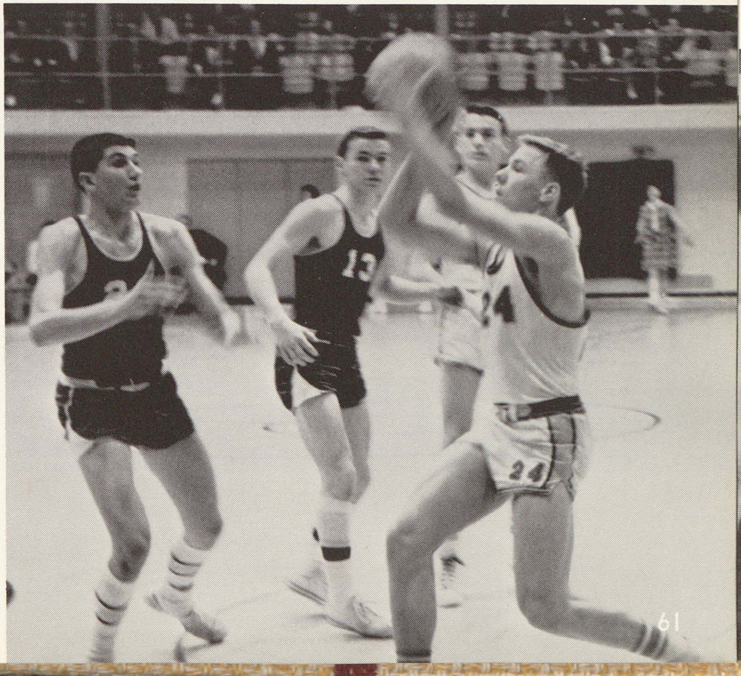

. . . the spirit of our high school . . .

Through the school's athletic program, students build sound bodies and alert minds, mold firm characters and well-adjusted personalities, and develop a sense of fair play and good sportsmanship.

An Eagle player's attempt to reach the goal line comes to an end as he is tackled by a player from the opposing team.

Frank Piesko hopes his long shot will raise the Eagles' score.

Anxiously watching the action on the field, Eagle players coach their teammates while the cheerleaders continually spur on the cheers of the spectators.

Gary Zucker, right, attempts to raise the score during the third quarter of the game with Bad Axe, the only Eagle loss of the football season.

Sidestepping his teammate, an Eagle player struggles to resist the efforts of an opposing player.

1962-63 Homecoming activities took place during and after the football game with the Bad Axe Hatchets.

Diane Loesel was chosen as the new Homecoming Queen of Frankenmuth High School by selected faculty and student representatives. June Block and Mary Block were chosen members of the court. She was crowned by last year's Queen, Kathy Uebler.

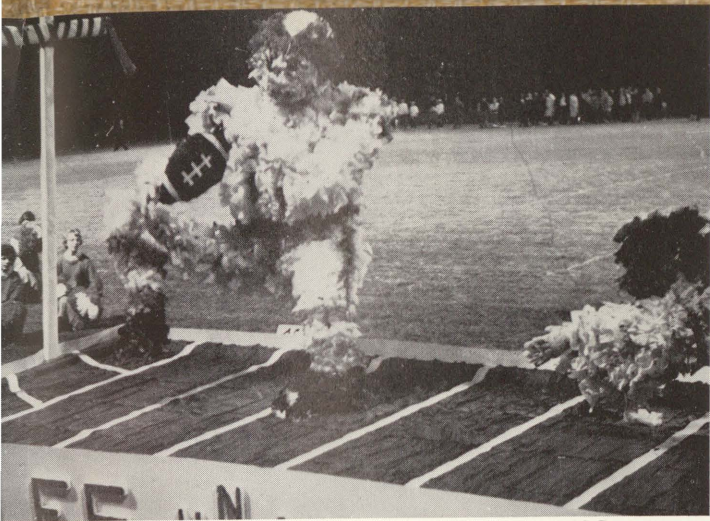

Floats circled the field during half-time, and the senior and freshman classes jointly received first place honors.

The Queen and her attendants reigned over the homecoming dance following the game. Diane was presented with a crown, a bouquet of roses, and a football autographed by the team members.

"Eagles Run to Victory" was the theme of the Homecoming float made by the senior class. It displayed the replica of an Eagle player skillfully dodging a model of an oncoming Hatchet player from Bad Axe. The senior float shared first place honors with the freshman entry for its third consecutive first place award.

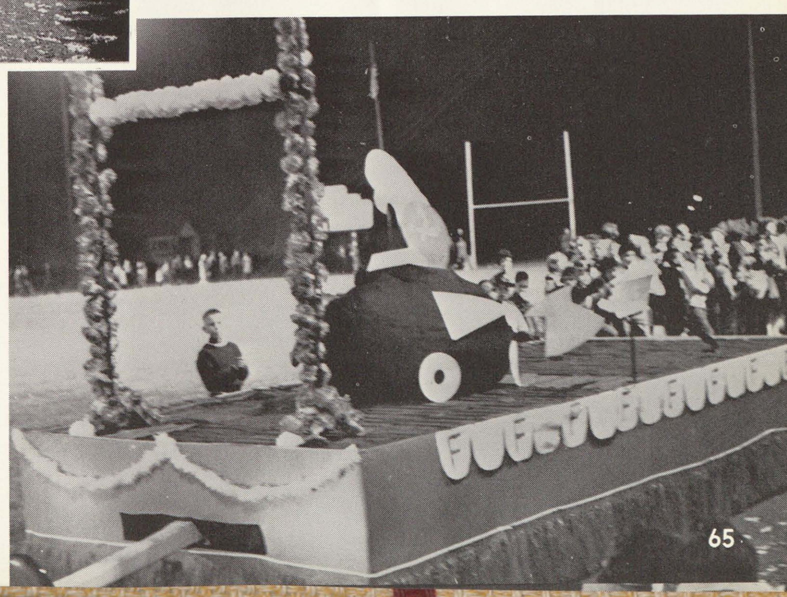

The junior class float depicted a victorious Eagle dominating the game with Bad Axe. Overpowering the Hatchets, the massive bird protects not only his own goal post, but the entire field from the plays of the opposing team.

Urging the Eagles to "Bury the Hatchets" are the freshmen with this entry. With a lone "Gravedigger" on board the float depicted the superiority of the Eagle team over other already buried opponents. The resting for the Hatchet team was already partially dug. This float tied for first with the senior float.

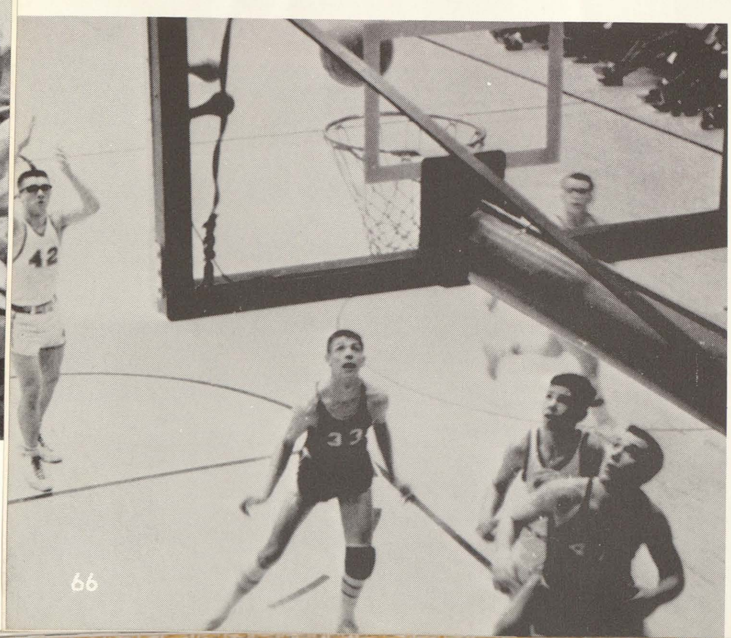

The sophomore float displayed a Frankenmuth Eagle riding an automated football to its own goal post. The bird left a broken Hatchet behind on the field and made use of signs pointing the way to victory. Bright colors and contrasts, as were evidenced in each float, lent gaiety to the festivities.

"Heh, heh! They'll be sorry they emphasized that point," says Naida Krafft as she plans her rebuttal speech.

Krazy Karnival

The "Krazy Karnival" is an event sponsored annually by the junior class in order to obtain funds for the Junior-Senior Prom. The success of the 1963 Karnival has shown the co-operation of a hard-working junior class.

This year's Krazy Karnival King and Queen, Dennis Laux and Mary Block, are honored with crowns and gifts.

"See, I told you I wouldn't win anything!" says Sandra Rau, center, after the drawing for prizes took place.

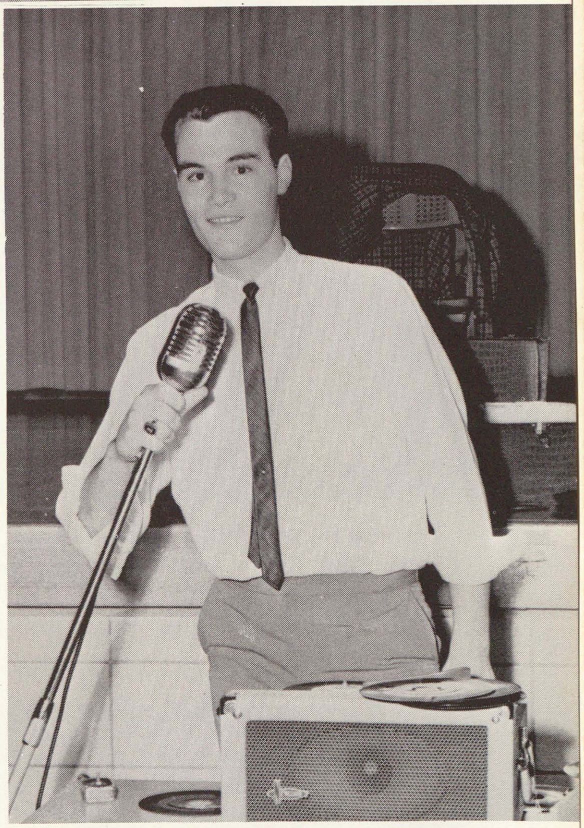

Picking winners for the prizes are Frank Piesko at the microphone, Curtis Kolberg looking eagerly into the ticket box, and Dennis Laux and Mary Block, King and Queen.

Dances

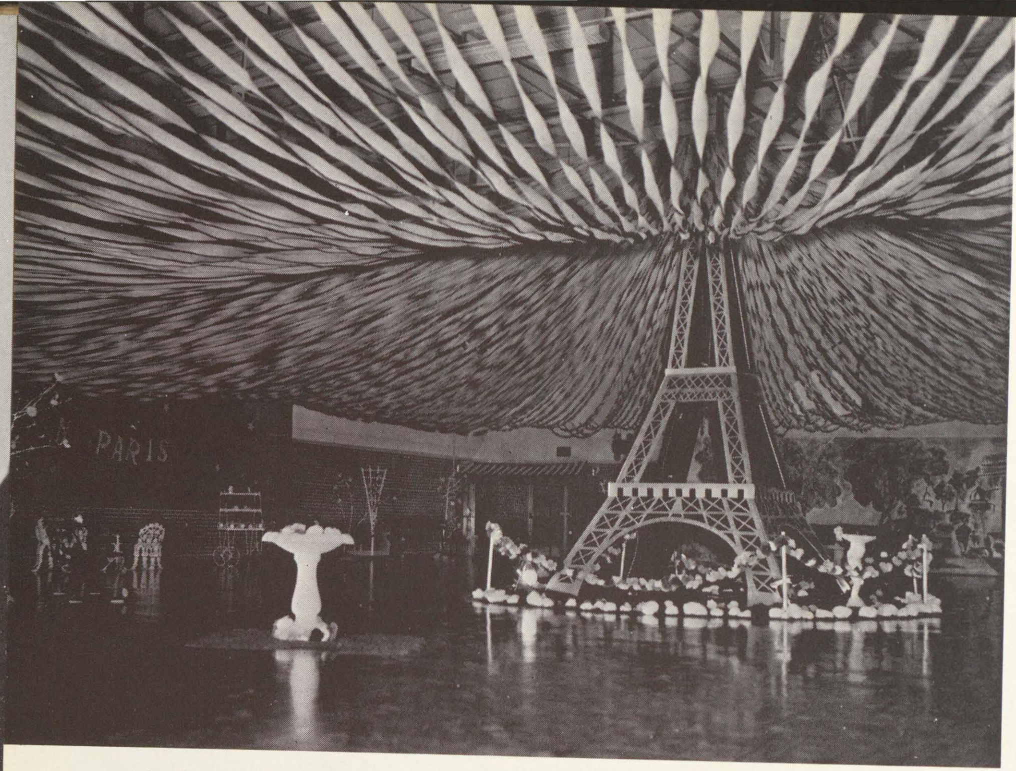

Following the latest dance craze, these girls enjoy a "twist" as fellow students look on from the bleachers.

"Alright, everybody dance!" urges senior Jerry Freeman, disc jockey for many of the school dances.

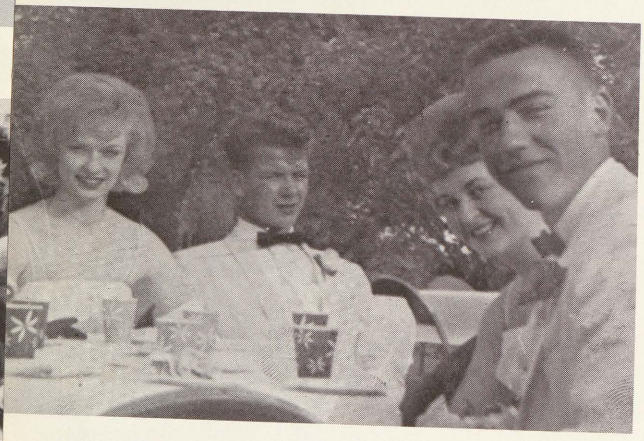

School clubs and organizations sponsored dances throughout the year to raise funds for their activities. These couples relax with a waltz at the dance sponsored by the journalism class.

The beautiful decorations set the mood for a wonderful 'Evening In Paris.'

Junior-Senior Prom

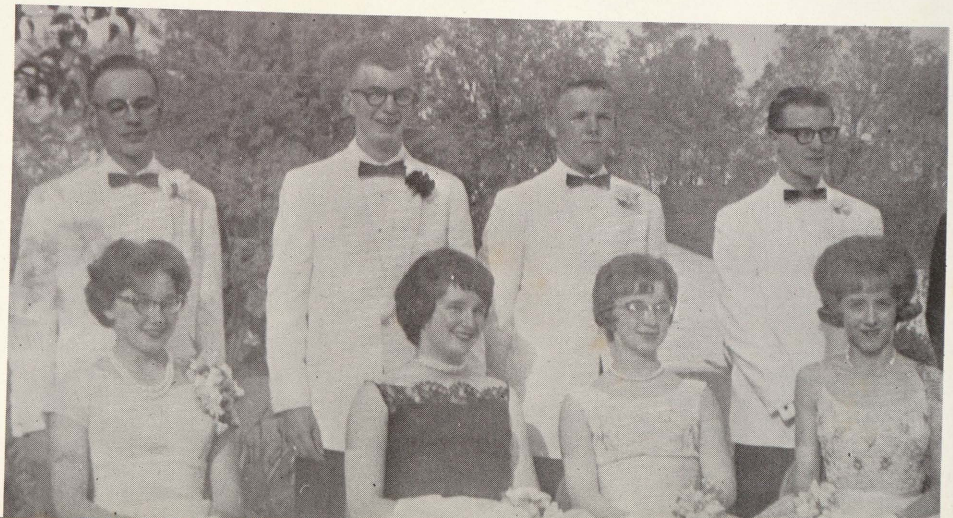

"An Evening in Paris" was the theme chosen for this year's Prom. The traditional event sponsored each year by the junior class in honor of the seniors took place on May 24, 1963. The students and guests dined and enjoyed a relaxing program at the Frankenmuth Bavarian Inn and later danced in the marvelously decorated high school gym.

Enjoying refreshments are, Bev Laking, Tom Pogozouski, Sheila Jordan, and Fred Kroeger.

Senior Class Outing

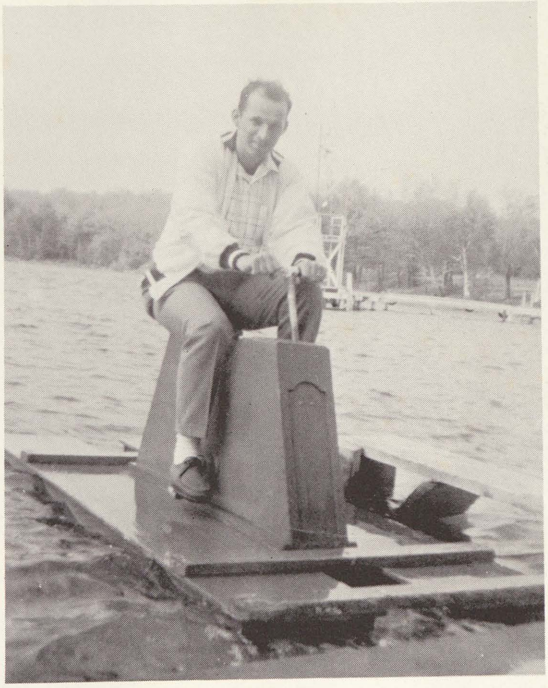

This year the senior class enjoyed their outing at the 'Gay El Rancho' in Gaylord, Michigan. A 'western' setting set the scene for a day filled with fun and excitement.

June Block, Rita List, and chaperone Mrs. Harold Uebler return from a canoe trip around the lake.

The seniors enjoyed two meals in the ranch's dining room.

Mr. Dorcey experiments with one of the water cycles.

Marajean Palmrueter and Dick A. Block try to decide who is going to row.

Sandy Bowden and Cleo Avery relax before dinner begins.

Baccalaureate and Commencement

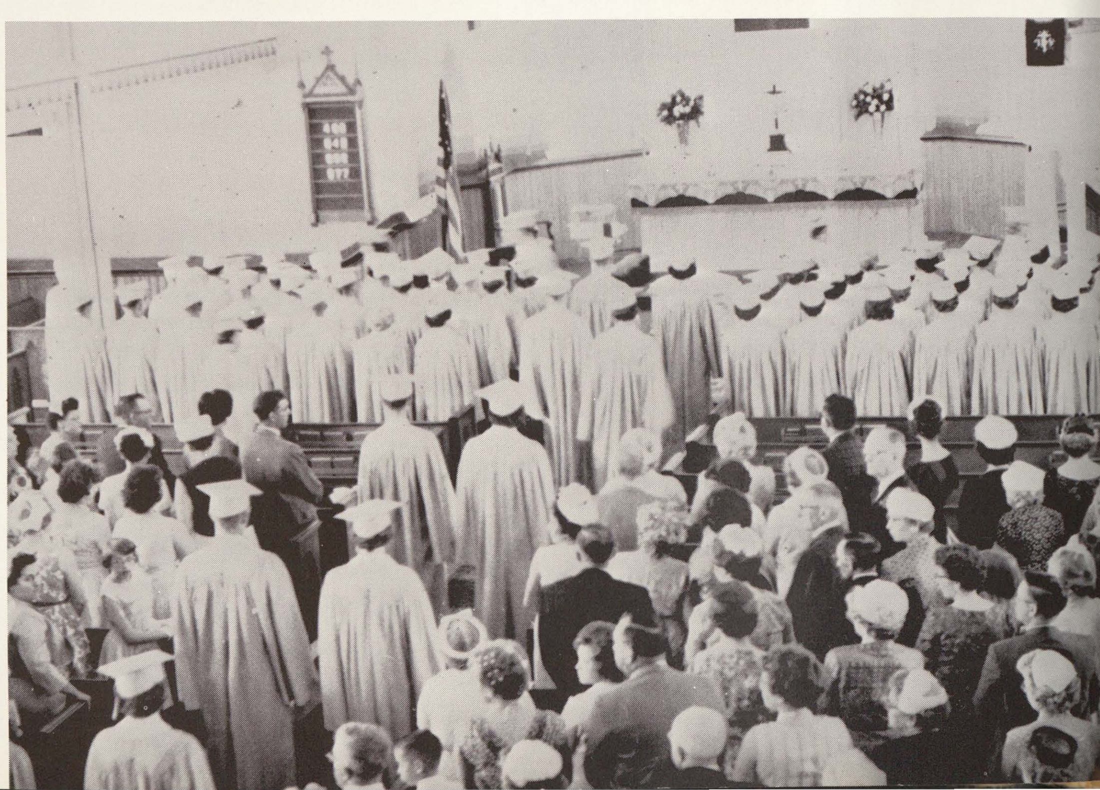

The baccalaureate service for the eighty-one members of the class of 1963 was held on June 2, 1963, in St. Lorenz Lutheran Church, of Frankenmuth. Rev. John Deterding gave an inspiring scripture reading and baccalaureate address. The processional and recessional were played by Lowell Borcherding.

Commencement exercises for the graduates were held on the sixth of June, in the gymnasium. Richard Nuechterlein played the processional and recessional, and the invocation and convocation were given by Rev. Lawson Knight of Immanual Lutheran Church of Frankentrost. Superintendent of the Frankenmuth School District, Richard Ziehmer, introduced the speakers which included June Block, salutatory address, Irene Schiefer, the valedictory address, and Professor Robert Iglehart, chairman of the Department of Art at the University of Michigan, whose topic was, "The Great Times." The class song, "Frankenmuth High School Alma Mater," was sung by Wallace Loesel.

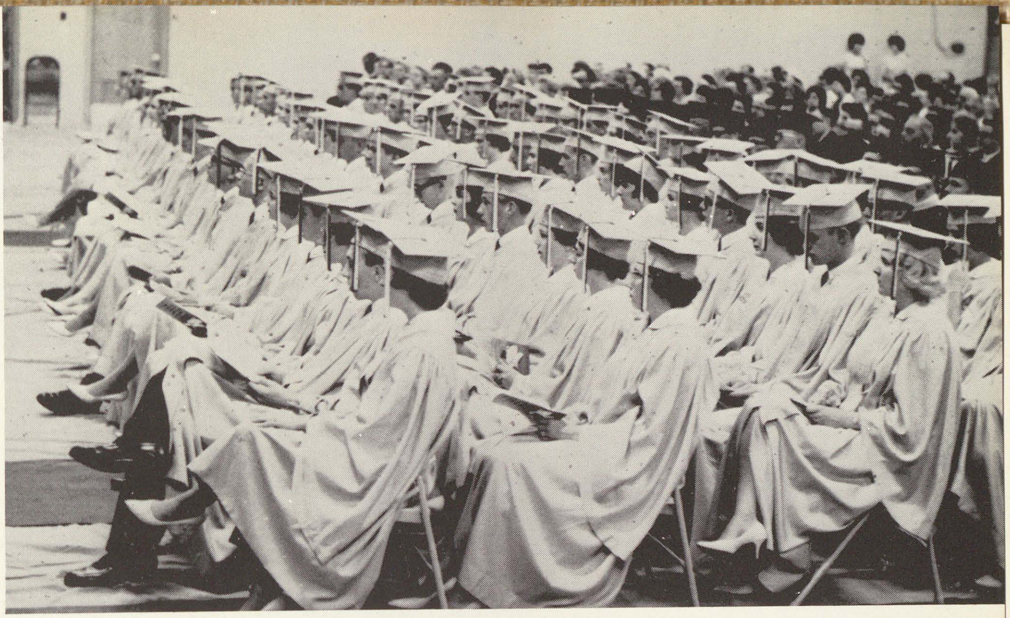

Richard Zeihmer, Superintendent of Schools, leads the class to Baccalaureate Services.

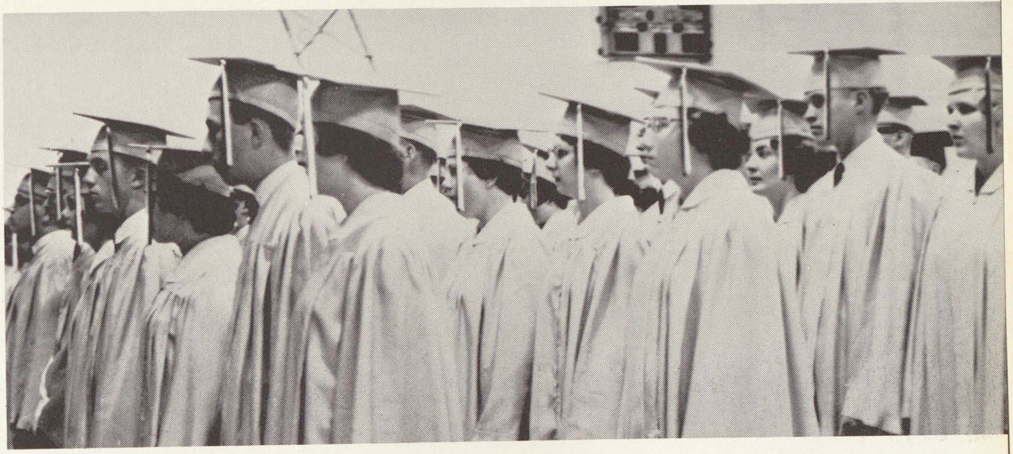

Friends and relatives of the graduates watch as the class files into church.

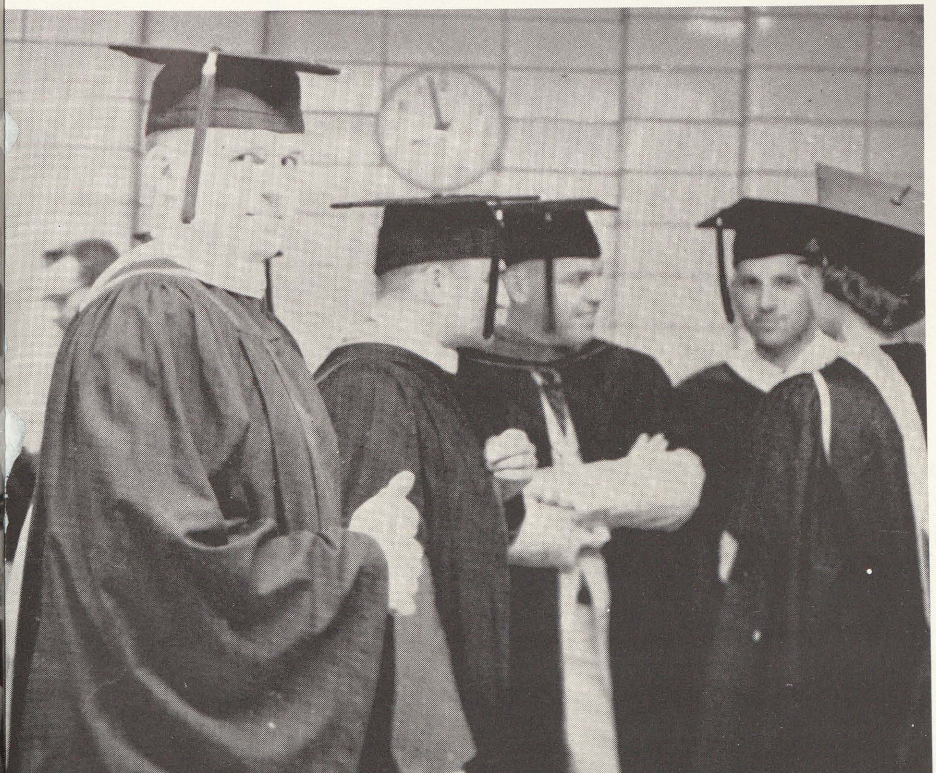

Pictured at the right is the class of 1963, completely together for one of the last times.

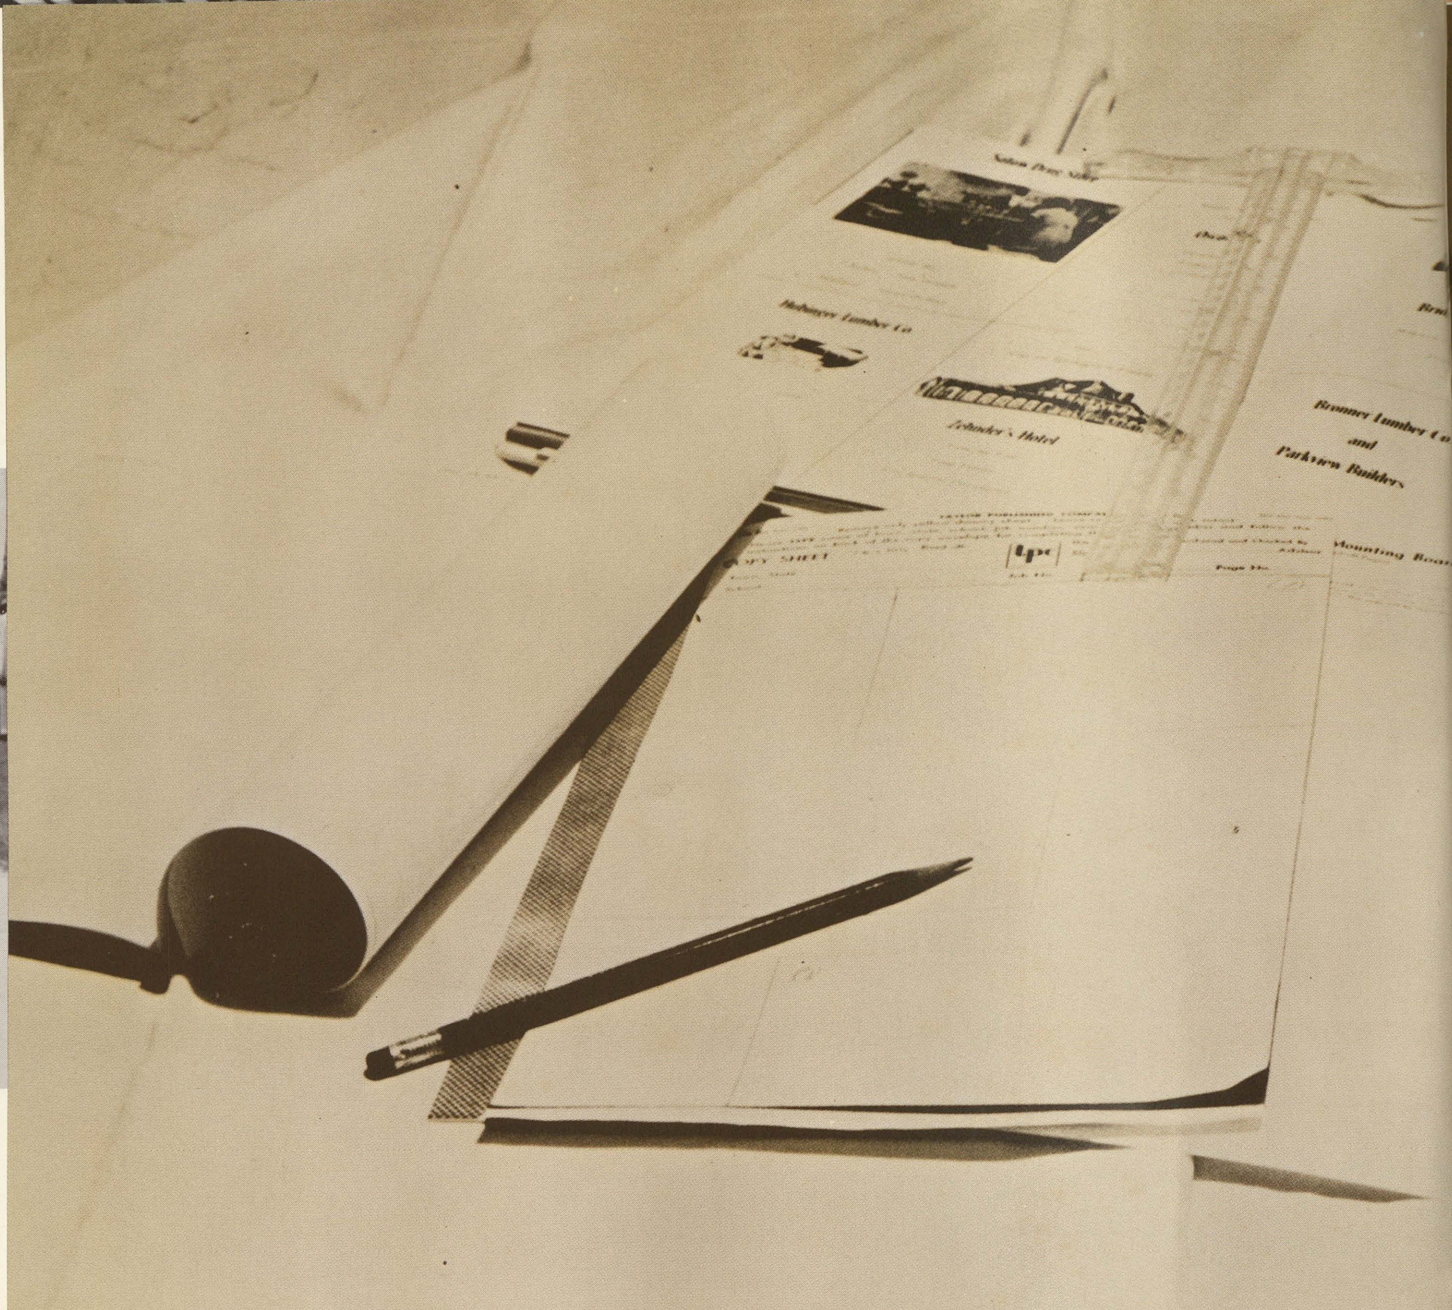

With solemn faces, these seniors await the moment of receiving their diplomas.

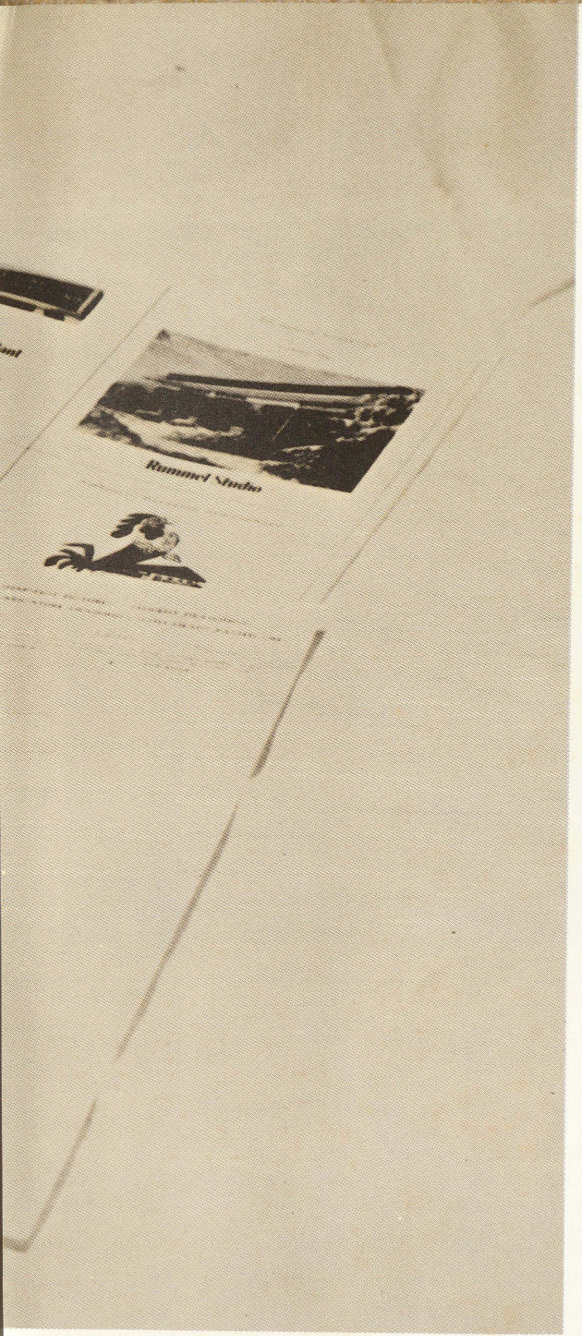

Members of the faculty discuss how they felt when they graduated. Mr. Weber (foreground), gives us a sly look after relating another one of his experiences.
